The Warm Up Bar is a great addition to any playground or outdoor fitness area, providing a simple and accessible way for adults and older children to prepare for exercise, improve flexibility and build upper body strength. Ideal for stretching, mobility exercises and light bodyweight workouts, it encourages users to stay active and make the most of other fitness equipment. Adding a Warm Up Bar helps create a more inclusive recreational space, giving adults something engaging to do while supervising children and promoting health, wellbeing and community activity for all ages.

Inclusive Information

Outdoor fitness equipment is a valuable addition to a playground, providing adults with opportunities to exercise while children play. It encourages physical activity, supports health and wellbeing, and helps create a more inclusive space that can be enjoyed by all ages. By giving parents, carers and other visitors something active to do, fitness equipment promotes longer visits, social interaction and greater community use of the area, transforming the playground into a destination for the whole family.
